Celebrating a win at the finale of your case is always a sure sign that you hired the right attorney for your case. For my case, I hired Mr. Bennett as my attorney, and at the finale of the case, "celebrating a win" is what we did.

Mr. Bennett is exactly the type of lawyer I aspire to be. He embodies the kindness and compassion that is highly preached about in the legal profession but rarely seen in practicing lawyers. My personal experience with Mr. Bennett stemmed from a professional licensing issue concerning character and fitness. After months of diligently researching attorneys specializing in this field, I was firm that Mr. Bennett would be the right man for the job. Despite my research, however, I hesitated before reaching out to Mr. Bennett because medical bills (arising from a separate family matter) had drained my wife and I financially. Thank God however a few weeks prior to my hearing I was able to save a little money and I decided to give Mr. Bennett a call to hear him out. I explained to him my issues, both legal and financial. Mr. Bennett however, from the very beginning, showed interest in only one thing, my legal issues. Before ever paying him a single dollar, he gave me priceless advice, for a worst case scenario, on how I could resolve the matter myself if worse came to worst regarding my finances. I knew from that moment forward that Mr. Bennett was the attorney I would hire if my wife and I were able to raise the remainder of the very reasonable sum he quoted me. His selfless advice, guiding me on how to move forward on my own if my financial position prevented me from hiring him, demonstrated his compassion and understanding, and most importantly, it showed that Mr. Bennett's number one priority was to make sure I reach a favorable and just outcome despite whether or not I hired him.

About a week after my initial conversation with Mr. Bennett, I was able to raise the remainder of the money to hire Mr. Bennett (Thank God) and I immediately drove to Bennett & Associates to retain Mr. Bennett's continued counsel.

Now that all is said and done, I can tell you that my instinct to hire Mr. Bennett was dead on. His counsel and representation was certainly worth the very reasonable fee I paid him and much more. I can say, without any hesitation whatsoever, that if you have a licensing issue, Mr. Bennett is the man you want to hire. No matter your situation, whether you are struggling financially or believe you can resolve your issues personally, I would still highly recommend giving Mr. Bennett a call because, first and foremost, his number one priority (from my experience with him from beginning to end) is to help you make sure you get the best result possible.

Essentially, whether or not you want to hire an attorney to resolve your case, I highly recommend you reach out to Mr. Bennett prior to your hearing because at minimum you will get the opportunity to consult his vast knowledge in this field and as a result increase your chances of winning a favorable decision from the board.

For me, Mr. Bennett was able to get the matter dismissed completely, and if you give him a shot, I don't see why he wouldn't try his best to do the same for you. Good luck with your matter!!!

(Note: a crucial lesson I learned from my experience with Mr. Bennett concerns timing; essentially, I was informed by Mr. Bennett that if I had hired him earlier than two weeks before my hearing, there was a strong likelihood, at least regarding the merits of my case, that he could have found some alternative way to dismiss my case without having to attend a hearing, which, notwithstanding the added stress and heartache that you experience prior to a full blown hearing, will certainly save you a lot of time and money regarding traveling and lodging expenses that you will otherwise spend attending a hearing).
